

Interactive comment on “Method of evaluation of efficiency improvement potential for water supply systems with focus on variable speed centrifugal pumps” by D. Pilscikovs and E. Dzelzitis

D. Pilscikovs and E. Dzelzitis

denpil@inbox.lv

Received and published: 24 December 2012

Thank You for your comments! The scientific method is clearly defined: The method for evaluation of efficiency improvement potential for public water supply systems, if proportional pressure control mode is compared with constant pressure control mode for variable speed pump. Regarding the literature references - you are right: I have not added some scientific resources...

Interactive comment on Drink. Water Eng. Sci. Discuss., 5, 533, 2012.